Modo WorkReady

Confidence. Delivered.

As your company prepares to welcome employees back into the workplace, it is essential to keep them feeling connected, informed and safe. Your employees expect you to help them understand and comply with new guidelines and protocols – even as those change – so they can focus on being productive and adjusting to the “new normal”. That means you need an effective way to share timely information, provide easy access to critical resources, and adjust quickly to continually changing circumstances.

Both you and your employees require the confidence that your workforce is prepared for anything, whether your people are in the office or working from home. Prior to COVID-19, you likely shared the same general information with all employees. Today, however, you must personalize the experience for each employee. The solution is a workplace application that keeps every single employee informed, engaged, and ready for what’s next—anytime, anywhere.

“In times of crisis, people crave information and expect employers to help them understand and cope.”

Return with confidence

With the WorkReady solution, you can ensure employees are prepared before they arrive at the office – reducing their anxiety and yours. Through the app, they can take a virtual tour of the new office environment. This helps prepare and accustom them to the “new normal,” while giving them insight into the office resources that will be available and where to find new ones such as Personal Protective Equipment (PPE). Employees will know who to contact with any questions – and can easily do so via the app. They can also take a wellness self-assessment to determine their health status, keeping you informed at the same time.

The solution empowers you to send rich notifications based on each employee's actual physical location to ensure everyone receives only relevant information and guidance. For example, as an employee arrives at the office, you can notify them to changes in cafeteria hours and sanitizing workstation policies.

Remain informed and safe

More than ever, you want your employees to feel confident and trust that your company has their best interests in mind. You can accomplish this by keeping them informed and helping them stay safe. Through the WorkReady solution, it's easy to provide information about eating options and other onsite amenities, enable them to contact safety personnel, and display up-to-date local protocols, policies and guidance.

Maintain social distance

While your employees are aware of the new environment, everyone is getting accustomed to new social norms. The WorkReady solution helps you motivate them to adopt healthy behaviors. Through Modo Quick Polls, you can gain insight into employee habits such as hand-washing and social distancing. Pair this with rich push notifications to nudge users and drive adoption of these important behaviors.

At the same time, you can use WorkReady to display floor and building status, so employees are immediately aware when a floor is being cleaned or at capacity. This empowers them to make informed decisions on where to sit to maintain social distancing. By providing floor plans in the app, you enable employees to find needed resources easily and navigate to a new area if necessary.

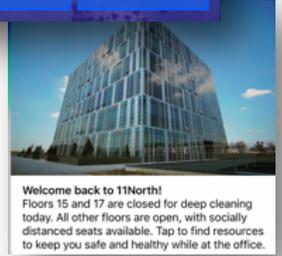

Stay healthy

WorkReady enables your company to empower employees to locate wellness monitoring services – such as temperature-taking stations – and securely self-report any symptoms they're experiencing. Through the app, they can also report that an area needs to be sanitized, and use the app to request and find PPE around the office.
